The value of suffering (or hardship) does not lie in the pain of it, but in what the sufferer makes of it. We don't always have control over what happens to us, but we do have control over how we react to what happens to us. Alex Ferguson is the best known and most successful football manager in Britain. He grew up in a working class part of Glasgow. It was a tough environment in which to grow up. People say to him, 'it's amazing what you have managed to achieve in spite of that kind of background'. But Alex says 'it was because of that kind of background that I have achieved what I have achieved. People were poor. But that was a great community spirit and a great work ethic among the people.'

Reflection

Jesus said there are two roads we can follow. The first is wide and easy to travel. It's downhill most of the way. It is the way of comfort and ease, pleasure and self-seeking. Many are fooled and travel down this road, and end up dying in the desert.

The second road is narrow and difficult. It is uphill a lot of the way. It is the way of struggle and sacrifice. Few take this road, but they are the lucky ones. This road leads to the promised land.
